

DOVES

ARE FLYING THESE DAYS AND THE SHOOTING IS GOOD. OUR NEW

Ithaca Shot Guns

WITH THE LATEST LOADS IN

Selby Cartridges

WHICH WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED A FRESH STOCK OF, WILL DO THE WORK.

EVERYTHING IN THE WAY OF SHOOTING SUPPLIES AT

E. O. HALL &amp; SON, LTD.

If It's Paint

AND YOU WANT A GOOD JOB, SEE ME—TOM SHARP

SHARP SIGNS

ARE SEEN EVERYWHERE
PHONE 307 ELITE BUILDINGJ. A. GILMAN,
Shipping and Commission

Agent for

Arthur Sewall & Co., Bath, Me.
Parrott & Co., San Francisco
Badger's Fire Extinguisher Co.
General Fire Extinguisher Co.
(GRINNELL AUTOMATIC SPRINKLER)
Neuman Clock Co.
(WATCHMAN'S CLOCK)
Royal Standard Typewriter
Aachen & Munich Fire Ins. Co.

FORT STREET, NEAR MERCHANT

Yosemite Valley

OPEN ALL YEAR

The Scenic Attraction of California

A valley of great beauty and grandeur, unique in its assemblage of sheer walls of great height, imposing peaks, and the number of its stupendous waterfalls.

Now Reached by Rail—A Quick, Comfortable Trip

Daily train service from Merced to the Park Line, connects at Merced with Southern Pacific and Santa Fe. O. W. LEHMER, Traffic Manager, Y. V. R. R., Merced, Cal.

Fresh Columbia River
Salmon
Halibut, and Crystal Springs Butter

Metropolitan Market

W. F. HEILBRON, Proprietor

PHONE 45

W. C. Peacock &amp; Co., Ltd.

WINES AND LIQUORS

SOLE AGENTS

MONT ROUGE WINES

THE WINES OF CONNOISSEURS

We deliver to all parts of the city twice daily.

FAMILY TRADE A SPECIALTY

WE GUARANTEE OUR GOODS

Honolulu Institute for Physiotherapy

CORNER BERETANIA AND RICHARDS STREETS P. O. BOX 440

Open From 8 A. M. to 7 P. M., Except Sunday

All kinds of Electric Light Baths (blue, red, white and violet). Steam Baths; Turkish, Russian, Pine Needle, Nauheim, Carbonic Acid and Oxygen, or Medical Baths; Massage, X-Rays and High Frequency, etc.

Special attendant for ladies.

REAL HAWAIIAN FAREWELL TO TRANS-PACIFIC YACHTSMEN

Last night at the Seaside Hotel, the final offering of hospitality was made to the trans-Pacific yachtsmen and the scene when over one hundred and fifty men sat down to the luau was a stirring one. The outdoor dining room of the Seaside had been transformed into a veritable fairy bower, and ferns, flowers and flags lent an air of enchantment to the place.

All the afternoon Will McInerney and a bevy of young ladies had labored to decorate the dining hall and the result was a triumph. Beautiful leis were left on each chair so that the guests and their hosts could decorate themselves as soon as they arrived.

The tables were set in a half moon, and in the center were the crews of the yachts, Prince Cupid and Commodore Jaeger of the Hawaii Yacht Club. Scattered around the rest of the room were all the sailing men of Honolulu and their friends.

The luau was of the real Hawaiian type, and the efforts of the maidens, a lift pot with their fingers caused some amusement among the oldtimers. The feast was perfect, and every delicacy that could be thought of was to be seen on the tables. The tables themselves were decorated with ferns and green leaves and presented a pretty sight.

Ernest Kaul's orchestra was on hand and during the progress of the luau played some Hawaiian airs that called for much applause. The music was of the real haunting, sweet variety, and it evidently affected the mainland yachtsmen.

McInerney Speaks.
After many toasts had been nodded and signaled across the room, Commodore Jaeger arose and introduced Will McInerney, who was to make the first speech of the evening. McInerney soon got into his stride and began to tell all about the origin of the trans-Pacific race. He waxed eloquent over the doings of Captain Wilder and the crew of the Hawaii, and every remark was a signal for cheers which shook the rafters. He wound up by saying that the time had now come to present the trophies to the yachtsmen, and called upon Frank Thompson to perform the duty.

Presentation of Trophies.
The genial Frank was cheered to the echo when he rose to say a few words and hand the beautiful calabashes over to the captains of the yachts that took part in the trans-Pacific race.

"Will McInerney has used every word I had stored up to say, and I think it hard luck to have to follow him in the speech-making line. When I look around this room, I see that you all have everything except water; you had enough of that on the voyage down from San Pedro," Thompson's speech was a masterpiece, and he kept the gathering laughing all the time. His final remarks, as he presented the first prize to Captain Wilder, were couched in a different strain, and he concluded a touching little speech by saying: "Not only in the name of the members of the Hawaii Yacht Club do I present this beautiful trophy to you, but also in the name of the people of Hawaii whom you served so faithfully."

"The Mollie was straight from the building yards, and she was also untried and new. To the men who brought those two yachts down must be given a lot of credit, and the way they treated us while on the Coast will never be forgotten by those who enjoyed the glorious hospitality of the mainlanders." These remarks of Wilder's were punctuated with cheers, and when the captain of the Hawaii sat down there was another outburst.

Frank Thompson then again got to his feet and after another speech presented the second trophy to Commodore Smith of the Sweetheart. "There are some people who say that when Captain Cook came to these islands first we dined on him. Since then things have changed a lot, and now you are dining on us. I now have pleasure in presenting to Commodore Smith this beautiful calabash, which is in reality a loving cup, and I do so hope that we may again see the captain of the Sweetheart in this port at some future date."

Commodore Smith Speaks.
Commodore Smith took some time to get under way, but once he started, he did good work. He first of all referred to the great hospitality that had been extended to the mainland yachtsmen during their stay in Honolulu. "A new word will have to be coined and put in the English dictionary," said Smith, "for the word which is at present used does not nearly cover the situation as regards the way we have been treated in Hawaii. I did not think that such treatment was possible, but I have learned all about it now. I feel that the trans-Pacific races are bringing us together more than we were before, and as for the great event, I feel sure that in years to come not only will boats from all the Pacific clubs take part, but yachts from the Atlantic will also be seen competing for the blue ribbon of the Pacific. I predict that within a few years twenty or more yachts will take part in the race, which will be known all over the world as the greatest event of its kind."

At the conclusion of his remarks Commodore Smith was greeted with cheers which were sustained for some time. Three cheers and a tiger were given for him, and the roof shook with the force of the yells.

Compliments the Mollie.
Shortly afterwards Commodore

Wilder responded.
"Last time we gathered here," he said, "we were losers, and the cup went to Commodore Sinclair, who won the race. This time we are the winners, and I am glad it is so. Credit must, however, be given to the other two yachts, which practically came to the starting line at San Pedro untried and unknown. The Sweetheart, although not a new boat as far as hull went, was, nevertheless, an unknown quantity as a sailer. She had been changed from a power boat to a yacht, and it was not known how she would perform over the long Pacific voyage."

"The Mollie was straight from the building yards, and she was also untried and new. To the men who brought those two yachts down must be given a lot of credit, and the way they treated us while on the Coast will never be forgotten by those who enjoyed the glorious hospitality of the mainlanders." These remarks of Wilder's were punctuated with cheers, and when the captain of the Hawaii sat down there was another outburst.

Frank Thompson then again got to his feet and after another speech presented the second trophy to Commodore Smith of the Sweetheart. "There are some people who say that when Captain Cook came to these islands first we dined on him. Since then things have changed a lot, and now you are dining on us. I now have pleasure in presenting to Commodore Smith this beautiful calabash, which is in reality a loving cup, and I do so hope that we may again see the captain of the Sweetheart in this port at some future date."

Commodore Smith Speaks.
Commodore Smith took some time to get under way, but once he started, he did good work. He first of all referred to the great hospitality that had been extended to the mainland yachtsmen during their stay in Honolulu. "A new word will have to be coined and put in the English dictionary," said Smith, "for the word which is at present used does not nearly cover the situation as regards the way we have been treated in Hawaii. I did not think that such treatment was possible, but I have learned all about it now. I feel that the trans-Pacific races are bringing us together more than we were before, and as for the great event, I feel sure that in years to come not only will boats from all the Pacific clubs take part, but yachts from the Atlantic will also be seen competing for the blue ribbon of the Pacific. I predict that within a few years twenty or more yachts will take part in the race, which will be known all over the world as the greatest event of its kind."

At the conclusion of his remarks Commodore Smith was greeted with cheers which were sustained for some time. Three cheers and a tiger were given for him, and the roof shook with the force of the yells.

Compliments the Mollie.
Shortly afterwards Commodore

Wilder responded.
"Last time we gathered here," he said, "we were losers, and the cup went to Commodore Sinclair, who won the race. This time we are the winners, and I am glad it is so. Credit must, however, be given to the other two yachts, which practically came to the starting line at San Pedro untried and unknown. The Sweetheart, although not a new boat as far as hull went, was, nevertheless, an unknown quantity as a sailer. She had been changed from a power boat to a yacht, and it was not known how she would perform over the long Pacific voyage."

"The Mollie was straight from the building yards, and she was also untried and new. To the men who brought those two yachts down must be given a lot of credit, and the way they treated us while on the Coast will never be forgotten by those who enjoyed the glorious hospitality of the mainlanders." These remarks of Wilder's were punctuated with cheers, and when the captain of the Hawaii sat down there was another outburst.

Frank Thompson then again got to his feet and after another speech presented the second trophy to Commodore Smith of the Sweetheart. "There are some people who say that when Captain Cook came to these islands first we dined on him. Since then things have changed a lot, and now you are dining on us. I now have pleasure in presenting to Commodore Smith this beautiful calabash, which is in reality a loving cup, and I do so hope that we may again see the captain of the Sweetheart in this port at some future date."

Commodore Smith Speaks.
Commodore Smith took some time to get under way, but once he started, he did good work. He first of all referred to the great hospitality that had been extended to the mainland yachtsmen during their stay in Honolulu. "A new word will have to be coined and put in the English dictionary," said Smith, "for the word which is at present used does not nearly cover the situation as regards the way we have been treated in Hawaii. I did not think that such treatment was possible, but I have learned all about it now. I feel that the trans-Pacific races are bringing us together more than we were before, and as for the great event, I feel sure that in years to come not only will boats from all the Pacific clubs take part, but yachts from the Atlantic will also be seen competing for the blue ribbon of the Pacific. I predict that within a few years twenty or more yachts will take part in the race, which will be known all over the world as the greatest event of its kind."

At the conclusion of his remarks Commodore Smith was greeted with cheers which were sustained for some time. Three cheers and a tiger were given for him, and the roof shook with the force of the yells.

Compliments the Mollie.
Shortly afterwards Commodore

Wilder responded.
"Last time we gathered here," he said, "we were losers, and the cup went to Commodore Sinclair, who won the race. This time we are the winners, and I am glad it is so. Credit must, however, be given to the other two yachts, which practically came to the starting line at San Pedro untried and unknown. The Sweetheart, although not a new boat as far as hull went, was, nevertheless, an unknown quantity as a sailer. She had been changed from a power boat to a yacht, and it was not known how she would perform over the long Pacific voyage."

Commodore Smith Speaks.
Commodore Smith took some time to get under way, but once he started, he did good work. He first of all referred to the great hospitality that had been extended to the mainland yachtsmen during their stay in Honolulu. "A new word will have to be coined and put in the English dictionary," said Smith, "for the word which is at present used does not nearly cover the situation as regards the way we have been treated in Hawaii. I did not think that such treatment was possible, but I have learned all about it now. I feel that the trans-Pacific races are bringing us together more than we were before, and as for the great event, I feel sure that in years to come not only will boats from all the Pacific clubs take part, but yachts from the Atlantic will also be seen competing for the blue ribbon of the Pacific. I predict that within a few years twenty or more yachts will take part in the race, which will be known all over the world as the greatest event of its kind."

At the conclusion of his remarks Commodore Smith was greeted with cheers which were sustained for some time. Three cheers and a tiger were given for him, and the roof shook with the force of the yells.

Compliments the Mollie.
Shortly afterwards Commodore

Wilder responded.
"Last time we gathered here," he said, "we were losers, and the cup went to Commodore Sinclair, who won the race. This time we are the winners, and I am glad it is so. Credit must, however, be given to the other two yachts, which practically came to the starting line at San Pedro untried and unknown. The Sweetheart, although not a new boat as far as hull went, was, nevertheless, an unknown quantity as a sailer. She had been changed from a power boat to a yacht, and it was not known how she would perform over the long Pacific voyage."

"The Mollie was straight from the building yards, and she was also untried and new. To the men who brought those two yachts down must be given a lot of credit, and the way they treated us while on the Coast will never be forgotten by those who enjoyed the glorious hospitality of the mainlanders." These remarks of Wilder's were punctuated with cheers, and when the captain of the Hawaii sat down there was another outburst.

Frank Thompson then again got to his feet and after another speech presented the second trophy to Commodore Smith of the Sweetheart. "There are some people who say that when Captain Cook came to these islands first we dined on him. Since then things have changed a lot, and now you are dining on us. I now have pleasure in presenting to Commodore Smith this beautiful calabash, which is in reality a loving cup, and I do so hope that we may again see the captain of the Sweetheart in this port at some future date."

Commodore Smith Speaks.
Commodore Smith took some time to get under way, but once he started, he did good work. He first of all referred to the great hospitality that had been extended to the mainland yachtsmen during their stay in Honolulu. "A new word will have to be coined and put in the English dictionary," said Smith, "for the word which is at present used does not nearly cover the situation as regards the way we have been treated in Hawaii. I did not think that such treatment was possible, but I have learned all about it now. I feel that the trans-Pacific races are bringing us together more than we were before, and as for the great event, I feel sure that in years to come not only will boats from all the Pacific clubs take part, but yachts from the Atlantic will also be seen competing for the blue ribbon of the Pacific. I predict that within a few years twenty or more yachts will take part in the race, which will be known all over the world as the greatest event of its kind."

At the conclusion of his remarks Commodore Smith was greeted with cheers which were sustained for some time. Three cheers and a tiger were given for him, and the roof shook with the force of the yells.

Compliments the Mollie.
Shortly afterwards Commodore

COMING EVENTS.

Secretaries and managers of athletic clubs are invited to send in the dates of any events which they may be getting up, for insertion under the above head. Address all communications to the Sporting Editor, Bulletin.

Oahu League Series.

August 7.—C. A. C. vs. Marines.
August 7.—P. A. C. vs. Waseda.
Oahu Juniors.
August 7.—C. A. C. Jr. vs. Pa-lamas.
August 7.—Mu Hocks vs. Asahis.

Golf.

August 21.—Foursome, Country Club.
August 6.—Match.
Tennis.

August 1.—E. O. Hall Cup.
August 1.—Wall Cup.
August 13.—Maul vs. Honolulu (Punahoe).

Polo.

August 10.—Kauai vs. Fifth Cavalry.
August 13.—Oahu vs. Kauai.

Basketball.

August 3.—Y. M. C. A. vs. Fort Shafter.

Smith arose again and added a few remarks about the third yacht in the race. "There were three yachts in the race, and I feel that I should take off my hat to Commodore Ward of the Mollie. Captain Wilder said that we had a new boat, but that was nothing compared to the Mollie, which came straight from the builder to the starting line of the trans-Pacific race, and then crossed the Pacific under cruising canvas. The best boat won the race, and she was handled in the best possible style by Captain Wilder. We were all glad the race ended as it did and no one begrudged the Hawaii her victory."

Frank Thompson again took the deck and he presented the third prize for the race to Will McInerney, who undertook to give it to the captain of the Mollie for his two little girls, after whom the yacht was named.

"Seaman" Hazard then made a few remarks and caused some amusement by producing the sole survivor of the dozen or so chickens which had started from San Pedro on the Sweetheart.

McInerney announced that St. Thomas Lipton, the world-famous yachtsman, had donated a cup for trans-Pacific races. This news was greeted with much applause, and then Prince Cupid got up and made a few remarks, and tried to explain how he had left a "Sweetheart" in mid-Pacific.

The evening was a most enjoyable one, and the visiting yachtsmen had a good time. Everything went with a swing, and nothing but fun and good humor were in evidence. The Coast yachtsmen expressed themselves as delighted with their experiences in Hawaii and they will leave Honolulu with deep regret.

The Fort Shafter and Y. M. C. A. basketball teams will meet once more on Tuesday next at Fort Shafter. It will be remembered that the first game was won by the Y. M. C. A. players by a score of 28 to 26. The next game should be a red-hot one, and if the Shafter's win, the deciding one should be a shorter.

NEW LEAGUE.

FIVE TEAMS
TO COMPETEGAMES START NEXT
SATURDAY WEEK

Short Series Arranged to Start When Wasedas Are Finished—Much Interest Taken in Scheme.

At last something definite has been done with regard to getting baseball going at the old league grounds, and yesterday afternoon a meeting was held at the Bungalow which went far to arrange things satisfactorily. Everything went with a rush, and in a short time it was announced that five teams would take part in the series that will be started up as soon as the Wasedas' schedule is finished.

The St. Louis, Military, N. G. H., Punahoe and Marines are to take part in the series, and a schedule was fixed up as follows:

August 13.—St. Louis vs. Military; N. G. H. vs. Marines.
August 20.—St. Louis vs. N. G. H.; Military vs. Punahoe.

August 27.—N. G. H. vs. Punahoe; St. Louis vs. Marines.
September 3.—Military vs. Marines; St. Louis vs. Punahoe.

September 5.—Punahoe vs. Marines; H. G. H. vs. Military.

This short series is expected to get people used to visiting the old grounds once more. Next season a full schedule will be drawn up, and it is expected that the game will once more boom among the "big" leaguers.

It was suggested that games be played on Sundays also, but the Oahu Alumni team did not care to do that. Finally it was decided to stick to Saturdays and end the series on Labor Day.

The teams are not to receive any percentage of the gate receipts, and expenses were not guaranteed. At the end of the series the money in the treasury may be devoted to liquidating all expenses incurred for uniforms, improving the ground and promoting sports of all kinds.

The move to establish real amateur ball is a good one, and one that deserves the support of people who used to attend the games but who have given the sport up since the betting evil cropped up. The following is a list of those present at the meeting yesterday: Colonel Jones of the National Guard, Lieutenants Bowen of Fort Shafter and Vaughan of Fort Ruger, Sergeant Barry, manager of the Hospital Corps team; Sumner, manager of the National Guard team; Lorrin Andrews, secretary of the Military Athletic Association; Jimmie Williams, manager of the St. Louis College Alumni team; Al. Castle of the Oahu College Alumni team, Captain Winne of the Oahu Alumni team, George Bruns and Billy Hoops.

Jack Cordell dropped into the Bulletin office this morning and he stated that he still holds the championship of the Pacific Coast at 158 pounds. He will fight anybody who will make that weight at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the contest.

The Chinese Athletic fans are nothing if not generous, and they proved it by giving Ayau, the player who won the game against the Wasedas, a purse containing $250, before he left for Maui, where he is employed.

AMUSEMENTS.

DANCE

—The—
ROYAL ACADEMY OF DANCING will hold its first quarterly dance on THURSDAY EVENING, AUGUST 4, at 8 o'clock. Odd Fellows' Hall. GOOD MUSIC AND A GOOD TIME.

DANCE.

Dance Saturday night, August 6, at K. of P. Hall, given by the Carnation Social Club. Dancing commences at 8:15 sharp. Good music and a good time. Everybody cordially invited. Tickets at the door—gents 50c, ladies 25c.

RECREATIONS.

New Orpheum

(Phone for Good Seats, 660)

LAST FOUR NIGHTS OF CASINO MUSICAL COMEDY CO.
—In—

O'Grady's Friend

WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY
FRIDAY, SATURDAY
August 3, 4, 5, 6

Funniest of Them All!
Everything New!

A GOOD SEAT FOR 25c

PRICES ..... 25c, 50c and 75c

Baseball

Honolulu Athletic Park

SPECIAL SERIES

SATURDAY, AUGUST 6:

C. A. C. vs. J. A. C.

O. C. ALUMNI vs. WASEDA

SUNDAY, AUGUST 7:

U. S. M. C. vs. C. A. C.

P. A. C. vs. WASEDA

Admission ..... 25c, 50c, and 75c.
Box Plan for Season Tickets at Chambers Drug Co.

Princess Rink

LAST WEEK OF
PROF. ANTONIO'S
WONDERFUL PERFORMING DOGS AND MONKEYS

Last Matinee, Saturday, at 3 P. M.
ENTIRE CHANGE TONIGHT

PROF. TYLER, Ventriloquist
With His Wonderful Talking Dolls
LATEST MOTION PICTURES

PRICES ..... 10c and 15c

Park Theater

MISS ETHEL MAY—Soprano Soloist
from Ke'th's

GEORGE GARDNER—America's Favorite Irish Dialect Comedian
The Great CROTTONS—Marvels of Strength

DYSO—World's Great Ventriloquist
CUNHA'S ORCHESTRA AND MOTION PICTURES

Admission ..... 5c, 10c, 15c

EMPIRE THEATER

HOTEL STREET

CARL WALLNER

THE AFLAG SISTERS

AND THE BEST

Motion Pictures

IN THE CITY

Admission ..... 15c, 10c, 5c.

Pacific Saloon

DICK SULLIVAN, Proprietor

Corner of King and Nuuanu Streets

Inter-Island and O. R. & L. shipping books for sale at the Bulletin office, 50c each.

ON A DAY

like this, a man can do more and better work for a cool, refreshing drink.

COME AND SEE US---

"It's The Fashion"

The Two Jacks.

Hotel near Fort